Study on Process Analysis of Group Play Therapy for adopted Children

Li-Yun Wu , Dept. of Counseling and Guidance, National University of Tainan, Taiwan

Adoption was one of major loss to children. Children felt lost and confused from separation with parents, and suffering from uncontrollable situation(Schneider &Phares,2010). The purpose of this study was to comprehend the interaction, themes of play and the process of change for children in the group play therapy.

Participants:

5 of 6-10 years old children who were ready to be adopted.

Procedure:

➤Development of the